Polar King Mobile trailers are constructed with a seamless fiberglass design featuring 54-inch reinforced doors, four-inch walls, and a pallet duty floor. The actual cooling of the trailer is achieved using a GOVI arktik 2000US series refrigeration unit. These compact units provide a temperature range of 0°F to 50°F, are all electric and require only 110V and 15 amps. You can also install a generator that can run during transport. We recommend a Cummins p4500IDF or equivalent.
Polar King Mobile trailers are designed and engineered specifically for outdoor use. The patented process for constructing the onepiece structure Polar King walk-in refrigerated trailers incorporates urethane insulation completely encased in fiberglass, both inside and out. There are no seams and the structure remains completely intact so air and moisture will not deteriorate the insulation.
Polar King Mobile focuses exclusively on refrigerated trailers that solve a wide variety of existing and emerging needs such as:
Catering and Hospitality Industries
Disaster Relief / Emergency Services for State and Local Governments
Hospitals and Mobile Morgues
Seasonal Demands
Weddings
Sporting Events and Concessions
Refrigerated Hunting and Butchering
Corporate Sponsorships
Exhibitions and Trade Shows
Supermarkets and Food Processors
Mobile and Fast Food Industry
Florists and Growers
