The PJ 25’ LD gooseneck is a good, honest work trailer built for folks who need to haul real weight without worrying if their trailer can keep up. With a 25,000 lb GVWR and dual-wheel setup, it’s got the backbone for hauling tractors, hay equipment, skid steers, or whatever else needs moving from one field to the next. That 30-foot deck gives you plenty of room to spread out a load, and the low-profile design makes it a whole lot easier to drive equipment on without fighting a steep angle. The gooseneck pulls smooth and steady down the road, even when you’ve got it loaded down, which makes a long haul a lot less stressful. Built tough with a heavy-duty frame and meant to take some abuse, this is the kind of trailer you hook up in the morning, put to work all day, and don’t have to think twice about.
