Description

The Greenfield 66” x 10’ single axle utility trailer with 12” solid steel sides is a handy, no-nonsense trailer built for folks who need something small but tough enough to handle real work. It’s just the right size for hauling tools, firewood, feed, or cleanup loads around the farm or property without dragging around a big trailer. Those 12” steel sides help keep everything contained and hold up well over time, even with rough use. Built in Pennsylvania with solid craftsmanship, it’s made to last and not give you trouble. It pulls light and easy behind just about any truck or SUV, and it’s the kind of trailer you keep around because it’s always useful when there’s work to be done.
