Description

The Greenfield 12’ utility trailer with 12” tall solid steel sides is a tough, straightforward trailer built for folks who need something dependable for everyday hauling. Those solid steel sides are just right for keeping loads like firewood, tools, feed, or debris contained without worrying about things sliding off, and they hold up better over time than lighter materials. The 12-foot deck gives you plenty of room to work with while still being easy to maneuver around the farm or jobsite. Built in Pennsylvania with solid craftsmanship, it’s made to take real use and not give you trouble. It pulls light and steady behind the truck and is the kind of trailer you end up using for just about everything because it’s simple, sturdy, and always ready to go.
