Description

The Ultimate Hybrid: 2026 Sure-Trac 7x18 (15+3) 14K Universal Ramp Equipment Trailer

If you’re looking for one trailer to handle your entire fleet, this is it. While a standard equipment trailer relies on 5-foot stand-up ladder ramps, the Sure-Trac Universal Ramp model utilizes a 3-foot cleated beavertail and full-width wedge ramps.

This design isn't just about loading; it's about eliminating the limitations of a traditional equipment trailer. Whether you're hauling a wide-track skid steer, a low-clearance scissor lift, or 18 feet of palletized lumber, this trailer adapts to the load, not the other way around.

The "Universal" Edge: Why This Over a Standard Trailer?

• Infinite Wheelbase Loading: On a standard trailer, you’re constantly adjusting 12" wide ladder ramps to match your machine’s wheelbase. With full-width wedge ramps, if the machine fits between the fenders, you can load it. No more lining up wheels on narrow rails.

• 18 Feet of Usable Deck: On a standard 18' trailer, the 3' beavertail is often "dead space" for cargo. These wedge ramps fold flat with the deck, turning your 15' flat deck into a full 18' flat surface for hauling pallets, long lumber, or vehicles.

• Zero Wind Drag: Stand-up ramps act like a sail, killing your fuel economy. These ramps fold flat, creating a low-profile aerodynamic profile that saves you money every mile you're empty.

• Low-Clearance Specialist: The combination of the 3' cleated beavertail and the wedge ramps creates a much shallower, more consistent incline. This allows you to load rollers, pavers, and scissor lifts that would high-center on a standard equipment trailer.
