When you’re looking for a trailer that makes everyday hauling feel simpler and more dependable, the Sure-Trac ST-TSA7812-078 has a way of delivering exactly what you need—without overcomplicating things.

With its 78" x 12' deck, this single-axle utility trailer gives you a practical, easy-to-handle size that’s perfect for homeowners, small jobs, and light commercial work. As you start using it, you’ll notice how naturally it fits into your routine—easy to tow, easy to maneuver, and ready when you are.

Built with a durable steel frame and pressure-treated wood deck, it gives you that solid, reassuring feeling that your trailer can handle the job in front of you. The single 3,500 lb axle provides just the right capacity for hauling tools, lawn equipment, or materials—so you can move what you need with confidence.

The rear ramp gate makes loading smooth and effortless, helping you save time and energy every time you use it. And with reliable tie-down points and sturdy construction, your cargo stays secure, giving you peace of mind from start to finish.

Finished with a protective powder coat and bright LED lighting, this trailer is built to keep performing—and keep looking good—over time.

Once you experience how easy and stress-free hauling can feel with the right setup, it just makes everything else a little more efficient.
