THE GALVANIZED EDGE
SUPERIOR CORROSION RESISTANT FINISH
Hot-dip galvanizing is a total immersion process. Unlike painted tube, this complete coverage ensures even the insides of hollow and tubular structures are plated. Hot-dip galvanizing is not just a coating like paint. It bonds zinc to the steel at the molecular level. Hot-dip galvanizing can provide decades of corrosion protection and results in the coating becoming part of the steel rather than a surface element as with paint.
